

Hand & Skin Care - Washroom

Hand Care

We recommend that you introduce a Protect, cleanse, sanitise & restore care program:

Protect - Helps to protect your skin against workplace contaminants and the environment. Assists with the cleansing process.

Cleanse - Use hand cleansers appropriate to the contamination. Removes even the hardest contaminants and dirt. We recommend using the gentlest cleanser for the contaminate.

Sanitise - Washing hands with soap and water is the best way to get rid of germs in most situations. If soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer.

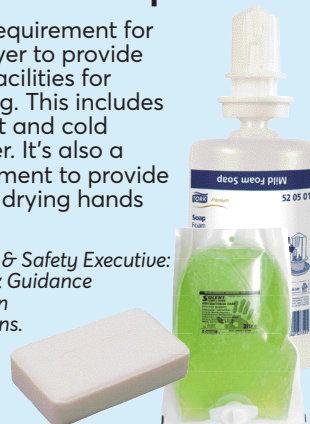

Restore -

Keeps your skin in a healthy condition. Helps replace lost skin moisture and supplements the skin's natural healing process.

What the law requires

It is a legal requirement for every employer to provide the correct facilities for hand washing. This includes soap and hot and cold running water. It's also a legal requirement to provide a method of drying hands and arms.

Source - Health & Safety Executive: Welfare at Work Guidance for employers on welfare provisions.

Brushware & Cleaning Products

The Detectable Hygiene Range has been specifically developed for the food processing industry and adds a new dimension to the claims of using 'all due diligence'. The products in this range are all produced from a specially formulated material based on high impact food contact approved polypropylene. This material has the ability to be detected and rejected by typical metal detection machines used in the food processing industry.

Product features: • Food contact certificates achieved (available on request). • Particles are detectable and rejectable by most metal detection machines. • X-ray visible. • Prevents damage to delicate and expensive equipment. • Cost effective against stainless steel. • Tough and durable. • Easy to clean polypropylene. • Virtually unbreakable. • Suitable for temperatures from -30°C to 80°C.

Infection Prevention and Control

Pandemic: (Adjective) of a disease prevalent throughout an entire country, continent or the whole world.

Historical Pandemics

Russian Flu Pandemic (1889 – 1890)

This pandemic started in the autumn of 1889 in the, then, Russian capital, St. Petersburg, infecting around 50% of the population. Scientists at the time noted that the spread of the pandemic followed major roads, rivers and most notably railway lines (no air travel at this time), reaching Great Britain in December 1889, the first cases in USA were also recorded at that time. The pandemic had mostly died out by February 1890 but by this time over 1,000,000 deaths had been recorded. Russian flu is often cited as the first modern day flu pandemic and was the first pandemic where scientists evaluated that transmission was spread by human contact.

Spanish Flu Pandemic (1918 – 1920)

Although it is not known for certain where the 1918 pandemic originated, it is widely accepted that it was not in Spain. The reason Spain is linked to the virus is that the country was neutral during the Great War and, whilst all other countries censored news of the outbreak to maintain morale, Spain was free to report on it, hence the world's nations linked them to it. In Spain the belief was that it originated in France and hence they call it the French Flu. It is estimated that 500,000,000 people were infected worldwide with the death toll being recorded between 30 – 50,000,000 deaths as no antibiotics or medical intervention was available. The only control measures available were improved personal hygiene, isolation, disinfection and limitations on public gatherings.

Asian Flu (1957 – 1958)

The 1957 pandemic was a strain of avian flu that originated in East Asia in February of that year, by September cases were recorded in Britain where it eventually claimed an estimated 20,000 lives. Asian flu is considered to be one of the least severe pandemics of the 20th century, however, it is notable for being the first pandemic in which a "second wave" was recorded, claiming 1.1m deaths worldwide.

Swine Flu (2009 – 2010)

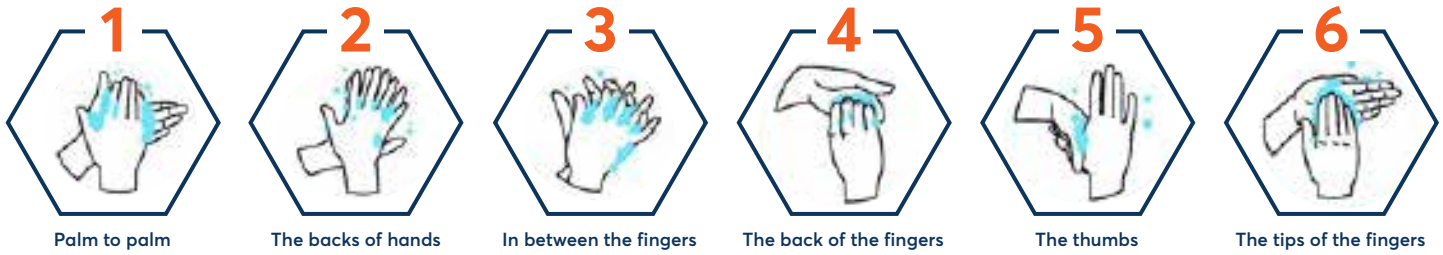

First detected in California in April 2009, it was similar to viruses that affected pigs, hence the name. It was declared a pandemic by the WHO on June 11th 2009, and by the time the WHO declared an end to the pandemic in October 2010 an estimated 500,000 had died. The virus was particularly dangerous to children and those under 65, it was believed the older generation had developed an immunity due to living through the 1957 pandemic. A vaccine for swine flu is now included in the annual flu vaccine.

Throughout the Covid-19 pandemic, the advice from the WHO and the UK government has been to increase personal hygiene (hand washing), practice social distancing and wear face coverings where possible.

STAY HEALTHY IN THE WORKPLACE

Wash your hands with soap and water, more often, for at least 20 seconds.
Use a tissue to turn off the tap. Dry hands thoroughly.

Paper towels or hot air dryers?

Towels are preferred:

The World Health Organization recommends single-use paper towels in its patient safety instructions for health care workers.¹

90% of people show a preference for paper towels over jet air dryers in the washroom.

¹WHO "Hand Hygiene Guidelines for Health Care Workers"

Towels are hygienic:

77%↓

Paper towels are critical to proper hand hygiene, as they can remove up to 77% of the bacteria that remains on hands after washing.

The inner surfaces of a jet air dryer can harbor 48 times more bacteria than found on a toilet seat.

Jet air dryers blow water droplets containing bacteria from the hands as far as 6.5 feet and linger in the air for up to 15 minutes.

Jet air dryers can actually increase bacteria by 42% on users' fingers during the drying process
